Ruml Plan Backers To Fight for Skip-a-Tax-Year Proviso

House Committee For 20 Per Cent Withholding Levy

Washington, March 2.—(AP)—Congressional "Ruml plan" backers planned today to tie a "skip-a-tax-year" provision onto legislation imposing a 20 per cent withholding levy against the taxable income of more than 30,000,000 persons earning wages and salaries.

A house ways and means subcommittee approved the withholding levy yesterday, effective July 1, as a means of weekly, semi-monthly or monthly deductions from pay envelopes and checks. The levy would not be an additional tax, but sums collected through it would be applied to actual taxes as they are now computed. The 20 per cent would include the Victory tax which already is being withheld.

Under this or any other plan that congress may approve, all taxpayers still must pay at least the first two installments of their 1942 income taxes, due March 15 and June 15.

Chairman Doughton (D-N.C.) of the full ways and means committee said the withholding levy might be "about as good as we can do now," indicating indefinite postponement of final action on the proposal by one income tax Ruml to cancel out a Beasley tax.

Ruml plan supporters had other ideas, however, passing word along privately that they would take their fight to the house floor.

The subcommittee bypassed the tax "forgiveness" issue completely for the time being, Chairman Cooper (D-Tenn.) telling newspapermen it was not decided yet whether the withholdings in the last six months of this year would be applied to 1942 or 1943 tax obligations.

May Be No Cancellation
Considerable sentiment was evident in the full committee for imposition of the withholding levy and applying its collections against taxes computed on the basis of income in the previous year, as taxes now are determined, and passing over completely the proposals to cancel out all or part of a 1943 year. Ruml has proposed that a tax year collections be against 1943 income.

Cooper announced the subcommittee's withholding action as follows:

"It has been tentatively agreed by the subcommittee to provide, beginning July 1, 1943, a withholding tax of 20 per cent—3 per cent on wages and salaries above exemptions of $624 like the Victory tax plus 17 per cent on wages and salaries above regular income tax exemptions of $500 for single, and $1,200 for married persons, plus $350 for each dependent increased by 10 per cent to allow for deductions. This would apply to wages and salaries."

Cooper estimated the 20 per cent levy would put approximately 70 per cent of America's 44,000,000 individual income taxpayers on a virtually complete current collection basis. He stressed that the withholding levy would make no revision whatever in the present tax rates and exemptions, and would not change any person's tax obligation for 1942, 1943 or any other year, but merely would set up a system for deductions from wages and salaries for accumulation against actual taxes to be computed at the year-end.

INDIA

By DeWITT MacKENZIE

The Indian political crisis bristles with more dangerous poisons than a porcupine does with quills but the greatest of these is the Hindu-Moslem division which through the generations has been marked by a bitterness that frequently has produced bloodshed in communal rioting.

Religious differences are the chief basis of this feud, which perhaps isn't so surprising when one casts an eye about the world and noted other countries where there have been, and still are, similar difficulties.

This deep division between the main parties reached the point where the Hindus and the Moslems charged each other with seeking to rule India. The British have pointed out this situation as evidence that self-government on a unified basis was difficult. The Indians charged that the government was exploiting these differences in order to continue imperialistic rule. Nobody explained why the warring factions, if they knew their quarrel was being exploited, didn't bury the hatchet and thereby spike the guns of their common aversion.

Maybe it will simplify this confused Hindu-Moslem mixup if we take a glance at it from this angle: The population of India is estimated at about 388,000,000. There are some 275,000,000 Hindus and 90,000,000 Moslems. That is to say, the Hindus outnumber the Moslems by three to one, and I call your attention to this because it's the key to much that follows.

Now the Hindus are Nationalists. They want a national government which will take in the whole of India. The Moslems object to a national government on the ground that, since the Hindus have a majority of three to one, the Moslems would be a constant minority without a look-in.

The vehicles which are carrying this heavy argument are three organizations whose names have become fairly familiar to the American public. The Hindus are grouped mainly in the powerful All-India Congress, which is dominated by Mahatma Gandhi, and in the Hindu Mahasabha, which comprises the more orthodox Hindus. The Moslems are represented by the powerful All India Moslem League. This is under the presidency of Mahomed Ali Jinnah, a brilliant lawyer who is one of India's outstanding personalities.

In Jinnah's forceful leadership the league has developed an explosive idea to safeguard the Moslem minority against that Hindu majority. (Continued on Page 6)

Maintenance of Farm Production Is No. 1 Domestic Problem, Says Hoover

Chicago, March 2.—(AP)—The nation's No. 1 domestic problem in the war effort, says former President Hoover, is the maintenance of farm production at the 1942 level to insure an adequate supply of food to our armed forces and to Great Britain and Russia. The cutting off of normal large imports of food "by submarines and the Japs" has depleted the nation's larder, Hoover said, but he believes "we can ration down our consumption to support this 1942 farm production."

The former president at a press conference yesterday said the country was confronted with a "serious" decrease in farm products this year unless remedies were "promptly applied." Listing what he termed "forces of degeneration in agriculture," Hoover described them as "progressive, and if they continue over a long war we can lose the war on the home front."

Hoover said the prospective lack of farm products this year was due to "taking manpower to the armed forces and munitions; to lack of farm machinery and fertilizers, and to decrease in protein feeds."

Hoover said he believed the Army should cooperate in helping to harvest the 1943 crop and that because of the shipping bottleneck on the number of men "that can be sent abroad, further draft of farm boys can be deferred until after the planting and harvest of 1943."

Democrats Relent; Permit Passage of Appropriation Bill

Measure for Welfare Institutions, Prisons Goes to Governor

Springfield, Ill., March 2.—(AP)—House Democrats joined Republicans to pass unanimously today administration deficiency bills appropriating $5,650,041 for operation of state welfare institutions and $1,059,502 for state prisons.

The measures already have passed the senate through their six-weeks journey through the legislative mill, and are expected to receive the prompt signature of Governor Green.

The vote on the welfare bill was 140 to 0 and on the prison funds, 141 to 0.

Minority Leader William Vickers of Pontiac, who voted aye, led brief arguments before the roll calls with charges that the deficiencies are the result of "waste and extravagance by the Green administration."

Citing it as an "example of $30,000 in wasted money," Vickers described the department of public safety's 16-ton mobile crime laboratory as "a glorified jukebox which violates the state laws every time it goes out on the highway."

Charges Vehicle Too Heavy
Vickers said the laboratory truck weighs 32,000 pounds and that

Youth Sought in Probe of Slayings

Pauburn, Calif., March 2.—(AP)—Officers were on the lookout today for an 18-year-old youth for questioning in connection with the strange ranch slaying of four persons and the death of a fifth.

Sheriff Charles H. Silva requested authorities throughout the state to watch for Raymond Latschaw, son of Amos Latschaw, 38, by a former marriage. Amos was one of the five found dead on the Latschaw ranch near here yesterday.

Sheriff Silva has theorized that Amos, former roadhouse operator, killed his second wife, Ollie, 39; his father, Charley Latschaw, 57; his mother, Bertha, 55, and his son, Charles, 6, then accidentally fell to his death in the well while throwing in his wife's body.

Raymond Latschaw was reported to have quit his job at the Sacramento Army depot last Dec. 13 to work at the family ranch. It has not been ascertained whether he went there.

German Attacks in Tunisia Are Futile; 600 Germans Killed

Allied Planes Have Big Day; News of War in Africa Summarized

Allied Headquarters in North Africa, March 2.—(AP)—Allied troops have hurled back all of General Jurgen von Arnim's attacks in northern Tunisia, knocking out 24 German tanks in three days and killing at least 600 axis troops, while in central Tunisia the allies captured Sbeitla and drove on three miles farther east.

In one of their most successful days in the air in this campaign, allied air forces shot down 25 axis planes yesterday, an allied headquarters communique announced.

The Germans made two more attacks yesterday toward Beja, west of Tunis and a short distance south of the Mediterranean coast, but were driven back after losing six tanks in one action. Some 20 miles to the south, Americans and British struck out with a counterattack northeast from El Aroussa, killing at least 300 axis troops and wiping out some machine-gun posts, front reports said.

Advices from the front reported an estimate that another 300 of the foe had been killed in fighting in the nearby Medjed-el-Bab-Goubellat area.

The Germans made their main thrust toward Beja and advanced to a point about seven miles from the town before being hurled back. Besides that, they launched an infantry attack at Toubkabour, about six miles northwest of Medjed-el-Bab, which also was beaten back.

Three Towns Occupied
Meanwhile American troops advancing on Field Marshal Rommel's trail entered Sbeitla, Kasserine and Feriana. Field reports said the three towns were occupied without fighting.

Both American and British planes struck heavy blows at axis air and ground strength.

Flying Fortresses struck at Palermo, in Sicily, and fliers reported hitting five large merchant vessels and several smaller ones in the harbor. They also damaged warehouses and drydocks. There were two waves of Fortresses, and gunners shot down seven axis fighters without suffering loss themselves while Lightning escorts shot down another fighter.

One of the heaviest tolls of enemy fighters of the campaign was taken when Marauders with Lightning escorts skimmed within 60 feet of the ground to attack a much-bombed railroad bridge at La Hencha, near Sfax, and other targets.

Bridge Blown Up

They blew up the bridge and in a 30-minute battle with German fighters, the American bombers shot down four Messerschmitt 109's and Focke-Wulf 190's while their Lightning escort knocked another five planes out of the air.

Other planes were shot down in other sectors.

The fall of Sbeitla occurred yesterday, today's allied headquarters communique said.

In the far south, the war bulletin said, fighters attacked objectives in the Mareth area but there was no announcement of land action.

On the northern Tunisian battlefield, where axis forces were seeking to drive on Beja to flank the allied base of Medjed-el-Bab, the communique said the attacks had lost weight.

In chronicling the fall of Sbeitla, the war bulletin said:

"Sbeitla is in our hands. Allied forces continuing their successful advance in the area 20 miles northwest of Kasserine occupied Sbeitla March 1 and penetrated three miles east of the town."

Nazi Attacks Slowed
As the enemy attacks in the north lost their momentum, allied headquarters said, "details of enemy casualties during the past three days showed that he has paid a heavy price in men and mater-

'Rational' Plan of Rationing Will Be Committee's Urge

Springfield, Ill., March 2.—(AP)—A fourteen-point recommendation of changes in the present system of fuel oil rationing in Illinois will be presented tomorrow to the Illinois legislature.

Seven of the ten members of the joint committee investigating fuel oil rationing adopted last night a report which will remain neutral on the question of necessity for rationing but will offer "frank and specific" advice on its administration.

Three Democrats withheld their signatures, pending a conference today, and two of them declined to comment on whether they might prepare a minority report disagreeing with the findings of the other seven members, six Republicans and one Democrat, Senator Nicholas L. Hubbard of Mt. Pulaski.

Agreement Doubtful
Senator Earle B. Searcy (R-Springfield) committee chairman, expressed belief that the three Democrats had merely reserved their signatures and would agree to make the report unanimous. Reps. J. L. Wellington of Belleville and George Garry Noonan, Chicago, said agreement was doubtful. Senator Stanley J. Mondak (D-Chicago) was not present.

Searcy and Senator R. G. Crisenberry (R-Murphysboro) said the testimony received during February indicated there was no need for rationing this winter, but that the resolution adopted did not take a stand on the question of necessity, and sought only to recommend steps for "a more rational system of rationing."

Crisenberry said it would advise the abolition of "the coupon system and other complexities," but that its original language had been toned down at the request of Democratic members.

MacArthur Invites Churchill to Visit Southwest Pacific

London, March 2.—(AP)—Prime Minister Winston Churchill had an invitation today to visit the southwestern Pacific war zone with the assurance from General Douglas MacArthur, who extended the invitation, that "the effect would be almost magical."

"Personally," Gen. MacArthur wrote, "I would rather have you come than to receive a fresh Army Corps."

MacArthur's invitation was an answer to a congratulatory message sent by the prime minister for the capture of Buna by American and Australian forces "and the important and resolute operations under your distinguished command which have resulted in the destruction of the Japanese invaders of Papua."

President Improves From Thursday Attack

Washington, March 2.—(AP)—President Roosevelt remained in his White House living quarters again today, cancelling his usual Tuesday afternoon press conference, but receiving a limited number of visitors and handling a considerable volume of business by telephone.

Presidential Secretary Stephen Early said the chief executive is continuing to mend from an intestinal upset which he suffered last Thursday.

74 Miners Known to Be Dead in Montana

Bearcreek, Mont., March 2.—(AP)—Bodies found in small groups added steadily today to the toll of known dead among 74 coal miners who were entombed Saturday morning by an explosion.

Thirteen bodies have been recovered—found singly or in groups of two or three. Only two were identified and brought to the surface.

Experienced mine men held slight hope that the remaining 61 men could have survived.

Gandhi to Break Fast Tonight (Dixon Time)

Poona, March 2.—(AP)—With only one more night to survive without food to complete his 21-day fast, Mohandas K. Gandhi continued to hold his own today. It was reported, that Gandhi planned to break his fast last night at 9 a. m. tomorrow (10:30 p. m. Tuesday night, CWT) when Mrs. Gandhi would hand him a glass of orange or sweet lime juice.

Waves of Britain's Great Battlecraft Pound Nazi Capital

Probably 900 Tons of Explosives Showered on Big City

London, March 2.—(AP)—In a thunderous prologue to an invasion of Europe, the Royal Air force's monster bombers last night gave Berlin the heaviest single air raid ever heaped upon the German capital.

The day and night offensive by the RAF and by United States heavy bombers which culminated in last night's blaze of destruction over Berlin was described by Capt. Harold Balfour, undersecretary of state for air, as "preparing the way for United Nations forces to invade Europe."

"These are but the opening bars, which will rise to the crescendo of a march on Europe," he

Threat

New York, March 2.—(AP)—A Berlin radio commentator declared last night after the RAF's heavy raid on the German capital that American cities "may not be safe a few months hence." The broadcast was heard by CBS.

The Berlin spokesman, referring to himself as an American, said the raids on Europe were "particularly cowardly on the part of America, in view of the fact that our (sic) shores are still a safe distance from air bombs."

He added, "however, we should not forget that in consequence of the progress of aviation even New York with its much vaunted skyscrapers, Boston and Washington may not be safe a few months hence."

declared in an address opening Britain's "Wings for Victory" war savings campaign. "I can look ahead to the time when there will be no hour of the day or night when the axis can rest from the swoop of allied aircraft."

It was estimated that last night's great fleet of four-engine bombers dropped probably 900 tons of bombs, including two and four-ton "block-busters," on the German capital—twice the tonnage the nazis poured on London in any single night of the attacks of 1940-41. Nineteen planes of the huge fleet failed to return from that attack and raids on

Consolidated Plant Workers Impatient

San Diego, Calif., March 2.—(AP)—Impatient at the lack of a decision from the War Labor Board on the long-standing aircraft wage dispute, an AFL aircraft union called a second 24-hour demonstration meeting in the industry today, this time at the big Consolidated plant here.

Shortly after the AFL aeronautical industrial lodge ended an all-day session at the Boeing plant at Seattle, a special meeting to last 24 hours was called at 2:30 a. m. (CWT), by H. C. Brown, president of the San Diego district lodge, over what he termed "the long delay in settling inequalities in aircraft wage rates."

In general, the aircraft industry is seeking wage boosts to bring it in line with wages paid by the shipyards.

Brown warned that no employee should remain away from work at Consolidated, where the big B-24 (Liberator) heavy bombers are made, but called for a full attendance of night and day shift workers at 12 noon and 9:30 p. m.

Governor's Wife, Soldiers, Children Come to Aid of Stricken Capital Boy

Springfield, Ill., March 2.—(AP)—Mrs. Mabel Green, wife of the governor of Illinois, and soldiers in California and Oregon have come to the aid of six-year-old Dickie Laswell, victim of a dread disease.

Dickie's professed desire to get pennies for war stamps, "so we can lick the Japs," has brought contributions totaling $82.32 in 12 days from all parts of the nation.

Meanwhile he has undergone his 16th blood transfusion in a fight begun last October against lymphatic leukemia, a disease for which his physician says there is no known cure.

Mrs. Green brought 500 pennies from her daughters, Gloria and Nancy, and 1,900 coppers from soldiers in the Headquarters Company, 59th armored regiment, 13th division, at Camp Beale, Calif.

"You buy the bonds and we'll whip the Japs," wrote the soldiers. Other contributions yesterday included 470 pennies from soldiers at Camp White, Ore.; 1,800 from "your boy friends and girl friends in New York"; and sackfuls from school children in Lincoln, Ill., and Ringwood, Okla.

New Red Offensive Cracks Nazi Lines on Northern Front

Moscow, March 2.—(AP)—Returning to the forefront of the Red army's operations against the Germans, Marshal Semeon Timoshenko has driven into their positions on a broad sector of the northwestern front in a sudden thrust that nazi armor and heavy mortar fire were unable to halt, and has smashed the seasoned German 16th army, the Russians said today.

Today's noon communique did not mention the fighting in this sector, west of the Valdai hills, but front line dispatches indicated Timoshenko has not had to halt his drive to consolidate his forces after sweeping over 900 square miles of territory and recapturing 302 villages in a sparsely settled countryside.

A special communique last night told of the successes of an eight-day-old offensive in which 8,000 Germans were reported killed and 3,000 captured.

It was the first official mention of Timoshenko in months.

The strength of Germany's 16th army has not been stated but Izvestia, the government newspaper, reported that "numerous German divisions were defeated east of Lake Ilmen."

The German 16th Army was known to have kept the area well-garrisoned with seasoned fighters.

Southward, from south of Orel to points in the northern Caucasus on the Black sea coast where the Germans were clinging to the remaining positions, slush and water hampered operations of the Red army but west of Kursk and west of Kharkov the soviet troops continued their mass blows, advancing into more settlements.

The heaviest German attacks continued southwest of Vorosilovgrad, but the Russians reported their forces were penetrating nazi positions in the Donets basin as well as pushing farther west of Rostov.

One Killed, 15 Hurt By Explosion, Fire in Chemical Plant

Bristol, Pa., March 2.—(AP)—One person was killed and 15 others injured last night in a series of explosions and fire that wrecked one of the 60 buildings at the huge Rohm & Haas Chemical Company plant in this industrial community about 12 miles from Philadelphia.

Heavily-armed soldiers arrived at the scene while the fire still burned and threw a heavy guard around the plant, spread over a quarter-mile square.

One man told of being hurled through a shattered window. Many of those injured were sprayed with molten plastics used in the manufacture of vital war materials. The first explosion was followed by several less powerful blasts and was felt over a wide area.

Duncan Merriwether, assistant treasurer of the company, estimated damage at "at least $100,000." He said the explosion resulted from "a reaction of chemicals used in the processing of plastic material."

Laden Axis Tanker Is Sunk Off Spain

London, March 2.—(AP)—A fully loaded axis tanker has been sunk 500 miles off Cape Finisterre, on the northwest tip of Spain, through the team work of a United States Liberator bomber and the British cruiser Sussex, it was announced officially today.

The plane spotted the tanker attempting to run the allied blockade and shadowed it for several hours after reporting the position to the cruiser.

The Sussex went after it, poured shells into the vessel and set it ablaze from stem to stern.

Movements of Jap Convoy Hidden by Weather in Pacific

14-Ship Armada Sails Westward From New Britain Today

Allied Headquarters in Australia, March 2.—(AP)—A 14-ship Japanese convoy, one of the largest ever assembled by the enemy in this sector of the southwest Pacific, moved westward from New Britain toward the New Guinea coast today as bad weather delayed allied airmen waiting to strike at the armada.

A communique from General Douglas MacArthur's headquarters said the convoy was last sighted off Talasea, on the northern coast of New Britain and about 15 miles west of the big enemy base at Rabaul.

While its destination was still uncertain, the convoy's position was roughly 250 air miles from the Japanese strongholds of Salamaua and Lae on the north east coast of New Guinea.

Allied airmen were poised for a blow at the Japanese force and awaited only clearing skies, but the communique indicated the enemy had chosen his weather shrewdly, reporting the ships were "moving under cover of an advancing weather front."

Hard Battle May Ensnare
If the weather clears sufficiently for reconnaissance planes to spot the moving ships, reported to be accompanied by fighter planes, the resulting battle might rival or surpass the epic three-day battling allied airmen handed a smaller force en route from New Britain to New Guinea Jan. 8-10.

A smashing defeat was inflicted on that convoy with the result that only a remnant of the original force of four warships and five transports survived. The Japanese lost at least 75 and possibly 100 planes trying to protect the ships.

The convoy's appearance followed closely General MacArthur's warning Monday that the Japanese were concentrating large quantities of men, shipping and planes in the islands north of Australia, either for an offensive smash at the island continent or in anticipation of a new blow from allied forces.

FIRST NURSE ON ISLAND

An Advanced South Pacific Base, March 2.—(AP)—A bearded sergeant opened the door of the hospital plane and stared, unbelieving.

"Good God!" he exclaimed. "There's a woman on board!"

This was Second Lieut. Mae Olson's introduction to Guadalcanal. The attractive, 26-year-old airline hostess from Little Falls, Minn., is the first American girl to land on that battle-scarred island since the war began.

Blond Lieut. Olson is one of 24 Army nurses recruited from the ranks of the airlines to serve on ambulance planes taking wounded and sick servicemen from combat areas. By the flip of a coin she won the right to make the inaugural plane trip to Guadalcanal.

Had Busy Half Hour
Eight seriously injured men and three others were brought to a hospital from that island of death on which Lieut. Olson spent a busy half hour.

"It was an experience I'll never forget," she related.

"Long before dawn we left the advanced field for Guadalcanal, of which I'd heard so much. I was surprised to find it a beautiful island from the air. Arriving on the ground, though, there were the tell-tale holes, torn trees and bomb craters."

"A bearded sergeant, not knowing there was a girl aboard, opened the door and almost fell dead when he saw me. 'Good God, there's a woman on board!' he cried. The men just stood around and stared, hardly able to answer me when I talked to them while the wounded were being placed aboard."

"All the wounded wanted to know if there were more like me." Lieut. Olson worked out of Chicago for American Airlines.

MUNDA BASE BOMBED

Of Interest to Farmers

Clarence Hart of Lee Co. Devises Winner Hog House

Urbana, Ill.—A "war winner" hog house combining ideas embodied in numerous small, one-litre field houses has been designed by E. T. Robbins, livestock extension specialist of the University of Illinois College of Agriculture, and Deane G. Carter, of the agricultural engineering department.

It is 6 by 6 feet at the ground, has three-foot sloping sides, perpendicular rear end and a slightly sloping roof covered with one strip of roll roofing. Strong, tight, dry and cheap, the house is suitable for any farmer to build at home with native or milled lumber and available roofing material. It is made without any floor, since the ground is warmer in winter and cooler in summer than a floor would be.

Most numerous of other one-litre field houses developed in the state is the 3-shaped house. It is 6 by 6 feet at the ground with sloping roof boards just five feet long. Thousands of these are in use in the western part of the state, following a design worked out by Elmer Craig, Henry county, a number of years ago.

John T. Willeford, Bond county, modifies this type by sloping the rear wall as well as the sides. It is rather complicated to construct.

Henry M. Seymour, Adams county, uses a low, flat-topped house 5½ by 6 feet with sloping sides and rear wall, made with a frame of 1 by 6 inch native oak lumber covered with steel roofing. Only 32 inches high, this house has been satisfactory in raising pigs altogether from gilts. Some of his 70 houses are still in use after 17 years of service.

Clarence Hart, Lee county, devised a 6 by 6 foot house with vertical 3-foot sides and a flat, level steel roof. About 500 of these have been made in that county during the past two years.

Security of the Tennant Will Aid 1943 Production

Urbana, Ill. Tenants may be encouraged to adopt changes in production to meet national food goals in 1943 if they receive assurances that they will be permitted to occupy the farm beyond one year, says H. C. M. Cline, head of the department of agricultural economics, University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

Most tenants are willing to furnish labor and pay part of the cost of minor new improvements, necessary on many tenant farms before livestock can be increased, provided they stay on the farm long enough to gain the benefits of the improvements, he points out in an analysis, "Farm Leasing Practices in Illinois." He recently made the study in collaboration with W. H. Scofield, assistant agricultural economist, bureau of agricultural economics, U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Better relationships can be expected if landlord and tenant first discuss all details involved in their particular case and reach a definite understanding before the farm is leased. Both parties should study costs and expected production carefully and bring their division of net returns into an equitable relationship by reviewing contributions each party is making at present. It should be recognized that even adjoining farms differ widely in productivity, improvements and other features which make one more desirable than the other.

Rather than make a definite change in cash rent an acre, it may be desirable to make cash rent settlements on the basis of a fixed amount of farm products.

Pattern for Victory

Strip cropping, shown above, is only one of several conservation methods used by modern farmers to increase production and protect the soil from erosion. With the lesson of wasteful farming during World War I still fresh in their memories, more and more farmers are turning to terracing, contouring, and strip cropping for soil protection and improved crop yields. The shadows reflected are reminders that our productive heritage must be protected by force. The importance of adequate food as a vital weapon for aggressive prosecution of the war cannot be over-emphasized. Lee and Ogle county farmers are planning extensive application of conservation practices in their effort to boost production.

Tall Corn Isn't Always Best for Producing Silage

Urbana, Ill. — Farmers should not let tall corn fool them when it comes to making silage. Although it gives more tons of forage, it yields fewer pounds of nutrients an acre than corn which matures the grain and has a high proportion of ears, says W. B. Nevins, professor of dairy cattle feeding, University of Illinois college of agriculture.

Silage made from late-maturing corn also is often soggy, extra-sour and unpalatable. If frosts come early, surplus acreage left after filling the silo is of little value for grain. As a rule, the best quality silage and best yields from the feeding standpoint are obtained from corn hybrids or varieties known to be good producers and which usually mature the grain in the section where they are grown.

Late-maturing sorghos also make poor silage, Nevins points out. Improvement in the quality of the silage can be obtained by mixing the sorgho with equal parts of well-matured corn as the silo is filled, or if sorgho is used alone for silage, by growing only varieties that approach maturity at the time of harvest. Some early-maturing varieties are Early Amber, Black Amber, Red Amber and Early Sumac. Medium-maturing varieties are Kansas Orange, Leoti, Norkan and Saurless. Atlas and Honey are late-maturing.

Grasses and legumes make good silage when ensiled under suitable conditions and when preservatives are added in adequate amounts, but more care is needed to insure proper conditions than when corn or sorghos are used. Good silage may be made from alfalfa, bromegrass, Sudan grass, soybeans, sweet clover and from mixtures of these. It is difficult to make good silage from forage of small grains.

Such a practice readily adjust cash rents to either rising or falling farm prices.

"Landlords who have good tenants would gain as well as the tenants if some assurance were given a year or longer in advance that the lease would be continued. Provisions for adequate equipment, whether furnished by owner or tenant, and greater security of tenure are both essential to maximum wartime food production," Case adds.

FRANK PRIEBE'S WEEKLY LETTER to POULTRY RAISERS

The OPA is probably the most unpopular of all the government agencies.

When it issues an order, people seem to start figuring how they can get around it, not how they can live up to it.

We've been acting as if the OPA had been foisted upon us, when, actually, we created it—through our elected representatives. They set up the OPA to keep prices from spiraling in an attempt to prevent inflation and the depression which inevitably follows.

Certainly no one could object to the purpose of the OPA. (Our memory of the depression isn't that short.)

It seems to me we object to the OPA not because of its purpose, but because of the attitude it has taken. "We don't seem to be able to satisfy anyone," one of the OPA men told me. "We're in a tough spot." And, being in a tough spot, they made the mistake of starting out on the defensive. They threatened and blustered and implied that we were a nation of chiselers.

There will always be some chiselers. But, in general, we're pretty good sports—willing to play the game according to the rules even if we sometimes get mad at the umpire.

Give OPA a Chance To Work
I have objected to some of the OPA rulings and to some of their methods, but I honestly believe we owe it to ourselves to give the idea a chance to work.

A great part of the food and material produced in this country must be delivered to our armed forces and to our allies, who need it desperately. What is left, we must share equally. If we evade rationing rules and price ceilings, we're not spitting the OPA. We're taking our neighbor's share away from him.

Price control works two ways. We may be irritated by ceilings on what we have to sell, but we appreciate having them on the goods we buy.

There are undoubtedly injustices and there is no reason why we shouldn't point them out. But, as Mr. Byrnes said in his recent radio talk, there have always been inequities in wages and prices and we can't hope to correct all of them while we're fighting a war.

Whatever the OPA can do to maintain the balance between prices and wages will, in the end, be to our advantage, however irritating it may be at the moment.

I think the attitude of the OPA is changing. Instead of assuming that we won't live up to the regulation, it is beginning to recognize the essential fairness of the American people. And when the government—or an agency of the government—shows confidence in us, we return it.

Hemp Should Be Seeded Ahead of Corn, After Oats

Urbana, Ill.—Farmers who plan to grow hemp this year to help fill an urgent war need should seed it just before corn is planted and after oats are seeded—but not before April 20, according to a circular, "Hemp: An Illinois War Crop," by J. C. Hackleman, professor of crop extension, and W. E. Domingo, associate in crop production, of the department of agronomy, University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

A seedbed considered "just right" for alfalfa should be the goal of every hemp grower. Clean plowing is important, and all plant refuse such as straw or stalks should be completely incorporated in the soil. Otherwise it will be picked up and bound with the retted hemp straw.

Probably the best method of seeding is with a clover—or grass—seed drill in 4-inch rows, but few such drills are available. The next best method is to use a 6-, 7- or 8-inch grain drill. Farmers who have no grain drill can get satisfactory results by broadcasting the seed if they are careful. After rolling the land with a corrugated roller or cultipacker just before seeding, half the seed is broadcast in one direction and the other half at right angles to the first to insure more even distribution. Then it is covered lightly with a spike-tooth harrow with teeth set at about a 45-degree angle, or with a corrugated roller or cultipacker. On soils subject to crusting badly, the harrow may be best.

Cutting, which is done with a special machine that cuts the plants low and spreads them in a swath with the butts even and pointing toward the center of the field, should be done when male plants are shedding pollen. In most of the producing areas in Illinois, this will occur during the last week of August or the first week of September. It is left in the swath until stalks are partly rotted, which permits fibers to be easily separated from the inner part of the stem. This rotting is known as "retting." After all stems have retted, they are bound in bundles and hauled to the processing mill to be weighed, graded and stacked by representatives of the Commodity Credit Corporation.

Copies of the Hemp Circular, No. 547, may be obtained from county farm advisers or the extension service of the University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

An interval of 21 years must elapse before the design of a United States coin may be changed, under federal law.

GOVERNMENT ORDERS AFFECTING FARMERS

Abstracted by L. J. Norton, Chief, Agricultural Marketing, University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

Farm Equipment and Supplies

Farm machinery order modified to provide more attachments: A new amendment to the WPB order governing manufacture of farm machinery and equipment modifies the restrictions on production of machinery attachments. This modification gives the manufacturer the option of producing 20 per cent of the total weight of attachments made by him in 1940 or 1941, instead of producing according to individual percentages on attachments allotted to him under the machinery order.

The general effect of the new amendment will be to allow some manufacturers to produce more of needed attachments, and to permit others to make attachments who previously were unable to do so. Grass seeding attachments to grain drills, fertilizer attachments for planters, and special plow attachments are examples of the types affected by the order.

Some copper released for rural electric extensions: A plan for expediting construction of urgent rural electric extensions in connection with the food production program has been announced by WPB. Arrangements have been worked out to make additional supplies of steel wire available for rural extensions. However, pending arrival of steel wire from mills, a limited amount of frozen copper stocks in the hands of utilities will be released at once to permit construction of urgent extensions which can be undertaken immediately. This release of copper conductor will be for a temporary period ending April 1, 1943.

In the case of REA cooperatives, distribution of the steel wire is being coordinated by the REA in accordance with arrangements worked out between WPB and that organization.

Higher preference ratings assigned certain food processors: Processors of egg and dairy products, and fruit, vegetable and fish packers have been assigned higher preference ratings by WPB for procurement of equipment, maintenance, and repair material. No change is made in the rating for replacement material.

The ratings are raised by amendment to Preference Orders P-115 (Maintenance and Operation of Plants Canning or Processing Fruits, Vegetables, or Fish) and P-118 (Maintenance and Operation of Plants Processing Dairy Products or Eggs).

Brought under P-118 for the first time are processors of dried skim milk, concentrated butter-milk, casein, or any other secondary processing of dairy or egg products. Preference ratings are extended to these processors to provide certain ingredients for animal and poultry feed.

The action also transfers administration of Orders P-115 and P-118 from WPB to the department of agriculture.

Harness order designed to help farmers: More harness leather will be made available to farmers and growers of truck crops, according to a new WPB order. The order temporarily stops deliveries of harness leather in the hands of tanners and dealers except deliveries to be used in making leather for farm and draft animals.

PRICES

Ceiling set on milk outside federal marketing areas: A nationwide emergency ceiling over the prices that fluid milk distributors and handlers may pay farmers for milk for resale as fluid milk has been announced by OPA. The order, however, does not affect producer prices for fluid milk in federal marketing areas.

The forthcoming regulation will stipulate that in general from the effective date of the order until April 9, 1943, no distributor of fluid milk may pay more to producers for his supplies than the highest prices he paid for milk delivered in January, 1943. The regulation, which will be issued shortly, is temporary in character and will be replaced by one reflecting a permanent policy on milk prices within the next 60 days. The new order will not apply to producer prices for milk of 4 per cent butterfat content for fluid use which are below $2.75 per hundredweight (f. o. b. plant).

In a companion action, OPA announced that a regulation will be issued this week reducing the prices of alfalfa hay in California, Oregon and Washington by from $4 to $8 ton from the abnormally high levels that have prevailed recently in many sections of those states. Steps to bring down high prices of alfalfa hay in other parts of the country are under consideration and OPA officials made it clear that the prices of all other types of hay and roughage are being watched closely.

Restrictions on Purchase and Use of Soybeans

Issuance of a CCC order limiting processor, manufacturer, and dealer inventories of soybeans, restricting purchases of soybeans, and prohibiting the purchase and use of whole or ground soybeans for feed and fertilizer was announced Feb. 19 by the Department of Agriculture.

The order is designed to increase production of soybean oil, meal and cake from the 1942 soybean crop, and to make these products available as rapidly as they can be produced for food and feed purposes.

The order prohibits:
1. Any processor of soybeans, any manufacturer of soybean products other than oil or meal, or any seed dealer from purchasing soybeans of the 1942 crop in an amount exceeding the quantity that he will need for his processing, manufacturing or seed sale requirements for the period ending Oct. 10, 1943.

2. Any person other than a processor, manufacturer or seed dealer from purchasing soybeans of the 1942 crop in a total quantity exceeding the quantity (a) required to fill orders on hand at the time of such purchase from processors, manufacturers, and seed dealers; (b) deliverable under contracts with the Commodity Credit Corporation; and (c) necessary to meet planting requirements. Country elevators, however, will be authorized to purchase up to 2,000 bushels from farmers in advance of orders from processors, manufacturers, and seed dealers. This is to permit the accumulation of carload lots in advance of sales.

3. Any person from purchasing soybeans of the 1942 crop in whole or ground form for use as, or manufacture into, fertilizer or feed for livestock, poultry or pets.

The restrictions seek to prevent the purchase and holding of soybeans for speculative purposes and to prevent the wasting of soybean oil.

Change of ownership for this animal, Morrissania Colinka Premier, has been officially recorded by the Holstein-Friesian Association of America, Brattleboro, Vt. The association issued 11,170 registry and transfer certificates to Illinois breeders during 1942.

A Thought for Today
Behold, happy is the man whom God correcteth: therefore despise not thou the chastening of the Almighty.—Job 5:17.

We deem those happy who, from the experience of life, have learned to bear its ills, without being overcome by them. —Juvenal.

Questionnaire
What's sauce for the goose, it is often remarked, is sauce for the gander. In connection with government questionnaires with which business and industry have been flooded for years, it might be added that any one can ask questions which even a wise man can not answer.

How would it be to make the questionnaire experts answer a few themselves? When one of them wants to buy a pair of shoes, for example, give him something like this:

State whether you are engaged in an essential occupation.

Do you ever open your mouth and put your foot in it?

Do you ever try to walk in two directions at once, and is so, why?

For what other purpose do you wish to buy a pair of new shoes?

Do you consent to the renting or leasing of these shoes if such action is prescribed by your county footwear agency?

Do you agree, if such action is considered necessary by your county footwear agency, to do custom walking for other persons?

Are your present shoes capable of being repaired, overhauled, remodeled or reconditioned?

Are you a barefoot, Wall street lawyer?

Are you participating in a share-the-shoes pool?

How many shoes do you customarily wear?

State how many shoes you had on hand Nov. 28, 1942. (If answer is yes, explain why you had shoes on hand and not on foot).

Do you own any shoe trees? (If answer is yes, the following questions must be answered: What is the normal production of your shoe trees? Are your trees in full production? Do you also produce corns?)

Do you take off your shoes when you retire or at other times when not kicking taxpayers around?

Do you understand that a false answer to any of these questions is punishable by a prison term and/or a fine of $10,000?

Flair for Dramatic
General Sir Harold R. L. G. Alexander, commander of the British Middle Eastern forces, appears to have a flair for the dramatic comparable with that of our own General Douglas MacArthur.

This has been evidence on a number of occasions, most recently when he reported to Premier Churchill: "Sir, the orders you gave me on Aug. 15, 1942, have been fulfilled. The enemy, together with their impedimenta, have been completely eliminated from Egypt, Cyrenaica, Libya and Tripolitania. I now await your further instructions.

But General Alexander was less than candid. He did not await instructions. By the time he reported completion of his original "directive" his men already were carrying out what inevitably would be his next order: "Hurry to Tunisia; help push the Old Fox the rest of the way into the Mediterranean."

SERIAL STORY
Glider Girl
By OREN ARNOLD
Copyright, 1943
NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: Pat Friday seeks a job that offers patriotism, adventure and romance. She is attracted by a help wanted ad that offers six young women with "source minds" an opportunity to learn soaring. When Pat arrives early, to place her application, she finds 40 girls ahead of her. She shows resourcefulness by posing as a secretary and obtaining data from all the applicants. James Carr, young and boyish, though of military bearing, is surprised to find Pat has assumed secretarial duties in his office, but cannot be angry for long.

CHAPTER II
ENGAGED

PAT sat far on the edge of her chair, as if poised for flight. Her eyes were wide; and beautiful, as always.

"I just—just—well, your secretary didn't seem to be here, so—"

"Miss Stuart is often late for work. Confound it!"

"Is she? I mean—well, then, I—I—"

"And so you just took charge of the waiting applicants, with a little artistic bluffing." Jimmy Carr's grin was appreciative and broad.

"Yes, sir."

"Miss Friday, were you deliberately trying to show your source mind?"

"No, sir, I mean—"

"Blushing becomes you, did you know that?"

"Oh!"

"You remind me of my little sis, back home."

"Oh."

"You don't need character references, I can read your character. And you look healthy as an Army mule."

"Oh!"

"Yes, sir; No, sir; Oh-oh-oh. How you do chatter, Miss Friday! Jimmy Carr laughed out loud. Then he resumed the inquisition.

"What college graduated you, ma'am?"

"That stymied Pat Friday. She hadn't been through any college. There had been one year and part of another before the funds ran out, but—"

She swallowed, thinking fast. His want ad yesterday had specified college graduates.

"I hardly ever carry a diploma in my purse." She was stalling for time again.

He jabbed a pencil at her. "Listen, it doesn't matter. I paid $10 for mine, see, to be sure it was genuine sheepskin. I paid $10 more for a leather case to roll it in. Know where it's been all these six years since? In an attic trunk back at Great Bend, Kan. Nobody's ever asked to see it yet! What's your full name?"

"Patricia Friday." So he was a westerner! With graceful movements and deep brown eyes. "Were you a rancher out there?"

He looked at her, smiling again. "I'm asking the questions. But the answer is yes."

"Are you terribly angry at me, Mr. Carr?"

"Nope." He was writing on a form.

"I was—I guess I was awfully nervous."

"Yep."

"What did you mean by soaring?"

HE turned to her again, studied her in fresh astonishment.

"You mean you don't know? Honest?"

"The dictionary—it—"

"Soaring isn't in many dictionaries yet. Not our kind. It's the same as gliding, only more so."

Their eyes held, until he smiled again.

From basement to sky—in a few short days Pat Friday learned the thrill of soaring. Glider flight opened the way to romantic adventure.

"You remember Crete," he went on. "The Germans took it with paratroops dropped out of gliders. Gliders, see? Airplanes without motors. Soaring is flying in those planes. Only—"

"Oh... OH!"

He caught her heightened interest.

"Mmm! Sounds exciting, eh? Okay, Miss Friday, it is! I'm here to tell you soaring is more fun than power flying. Easier, and safer, too. Now look—"

His boyish enthusiasm had him again. For five minutes he lectured Pat, and she was a fascinated pupil. He leaned close to her, he swayed back, describing things with his hands. It was a mere five minutes, but that was long enough for Pat to feel something brand-new welling within her. Moreover, it was a grand something. She hadn't time to understand it fully, but it was the most delightful, most exalting feeling she had ever known! Soaring! It had to do with aircraft, yes; but it had to do with her own consciousness, too! Jimmie Carr had sent her spirits soaring sky high.

"YOU'RE hired." He turned abruptly to his desk again, writing. "What's your age?"

"It's—22."

"Mmm. Height?"

"Five feet one. Almost two. Maybe I could—"

"Weight?"

"I'm dieting. I think I can make—"

He wrinkled his nose at her, impishly grinning. "Ninety-five?"

"Oh, no! It's 99!"

"Mmm! Fat lady!"

"I want to gain."

"Married?"

"Goodness no! I mean—no!"

"Plain 'No.' He chuckled. "Any encumbrances?"

"No. I—I'm an orphan. Brother's in the Navy. We—"

"Typing? Shorthand? Dicta-phone?"

News Behind THE NEWS
By PAUL MALLON

(Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc., reproduction in whole or in part strictly prohibited.)

Washington — Absence of comment on the new food prohibitions is due to the fact that no one here knows much more than you about how it will work out.

The canning restrictions are practically a prohibition of that form of food. An allowance of two or three cans a month for each individual practically eliminates canned goods from the average table.

This will throw the average appetite into three new directions—more fresh vegetables, more meats, more eating-out at restaurants.

All these avenues of escape cost more, so the burden will fall most heavily on the poor, the class which used more canned goods anyway.

But the three avenues of escape are already being closed up. The fresh vegetables future is doubtful, because of farm fears due to lack of help, machinery and fertilizers, difficulties of transportation, doubtfulness of weather conditions, etc. Surely we can expect a subnormal vegetable supply to meet the doubled demand.

The availability of meats is equally as doubtful, or worse. The government is suggesting that restaurants be cut to 50 per cent of their December supply. Restaurant men have rushed in here from all over the country to stop the move, protesting that December is their smallest month, in view of the holidays, etc. But the restaurant outlet will be curtailed also.

The rationing, therefore, can only be interpreted in connection with the shriveling supplies of vegetables, meats, and restaurants, and creates a situation so vast in its possibilities as to defy a precised advance prophesy.

The miserable outlook should inspire this government of economic totality in Washington to double or treble the farm production immediately, and provide the means of doing it. Not a single official, however, seems to be thinking along that line.

The current Wickard policy calls for an eight percent increase in farm production this year over last, and Food Administrator Wickard has maintained a radiant hope that this inconsequential increase will be achieved.

But the senate agriculture committee checked up on him with a better source. He was asked to poll the 2,800 county agents throughout the United States, and it then developed that 2,400 of them disagreed with him.

This 85 per cent predicted the food quotas would run down as much as 30 per cent below normal, and they know because they are on the ground.

This certainly means that, in 85 per cent of the farm counties of the United States, a decrease must be anticipated. Only in 42 counties was an increase foreseen.

Nothing could more completely expose both the inadequacy of the current food program and Wickard's hopes.

Roosevelt is casting about for a successor to Manpowerist McNutt, but those congressmen who have seen him lately suggest he has not had much luck.

The name of Ambassador Winant has been mentioned, but Winant (who has been in this country for several weeks) is all tied up with Beveridge social security notions and otherwise does not meet the White House formula for new appointees.

With the appointment of Prentiss Brown to supplant Leon Henderson in OPA, Roosevelt set a policy of selecting men who could get along with congress. Others are not much good to him in any job now.

Congress is exerting a legislative leadership at last, and any official who is unable to deal with them on agreeable terms suffers an impairment of usefulness which cannot otherwise be overcome.

A suggestion has been made that Roosevelt might also seek successors for Labor Secretary Perkins, and perhaps Food Administrator Wickard. Certainly a strong personality, able to assert constructive expansionist leadership, is needed in the food crisis, and Madam Perkins long has failed to meet the demand for wise top guidance of the quarrelling labor elements.

Some authorities have even dared to suggest an administrative reformation which would dip into Republican ranks—get Willie for McNutt's job, Hoover for food, and someone of a judicial nature, like Chief Justice Stone or Associate Justice Roberts, for labor.

Time is pressing and the problems are increasing in perplexity.

Rhubarb belongs to the buckwheat family.

Typhoid fever is more common in the country than in the city.

Fair Enough
by WESTBROOK PEGLER

This man is a famous politician with presidential aspirations who has held big jobs in the government and the party and lived in Washington for about 10 years. He was going out of the Mayflower and I as coming in and he remarked that he was going "up-northeast."

"Where?" I asked, "Maine?"

"No, no," he said, "I mean up the Hill. I have to see a couple of fellows up on the Hill."

"But that isn't northeast, is it?"

"Well," he said, "I have to admit you have got me there. I have been around this town all these years, but I still don't know where the streets are. If I want to go somewhere I look up the address in the phone book and tell the taxi driver and he takes me. I never could tell Massachusetts Ave., from Connecticut Ave., and I don't know what street the Supreme Court is on nor the Capitol. I have never been in a street car or a bus and I wouldn't know which line to take to go anywhere. I would probably wind up the Mayflower, anyway. I always wind up at the Mayflower."

Our subject preferred not to be identified with this confession lest his political future be affected. He might seem uncommonly dumb, not knowing his way around after so long a time in Washington, and he might be accused of Toryism in his campaign should it be known that he had never ridden a street car or bus but always in an official car or taxi.

After all there was the case of the southern senator who was driven out of office by an upstart opponent who campaign the state wearing overalls and driving a steaming Model T Ford with a brass radiator, with no campaign issue but a menu from the incumbent's hotel.

"Folks," the upstart would say, "I want you to know how your senator lives in Washington. You po' folks ought to see him setting in the lap of luxury eating out of the flesh-pots. Here is it wrote down on the menu. That there menu is a French word meaning what they have got fo' dinner to-day. Here it is 'terrapin, $4.00,' fo' dolla's for a he-pin of cooter. Here is another, 'caviar, $3.00'; that's fish eggs, imported from Communist Russia, or 'steak, fo' persons, $8.00—eight dolla's for a steak for fo' people, friends. Supposin' y'all are four in a family living at you'r senator's hotel y'all have terrapin, caviar an' steak fo' dinner and the bill comes to $36 for just one meal and I to you, my friends, here is the proof how you' senator have been representin' us po' folks up there in Washington."

The defending senator was defeated by an opponent who then went to Washington, broke out his store clothes, tailored at $165 a suit in New York, and became one of the social high rollers of the Capital.

Our subject may have been unduly cautious, although there is no harm in playing safe. It might not be wise of a presidential candidate to admit that he never had ridden the po' man's limousine in all his years in Washington and had been so indifferent to the landmarks that tourists visit in awe that he didn't even acquire a general idea of the layout of the city. But the truth is that the national Capital, though crowded, is home to few of those who live there and Mrs. Roosevelt, herself, recently related that, unfamiliar with the public transportation system, she took a street car and discovered herself going in the wrong direction. I have discovered that others who have lived in town for years are just getting familiar with the markings and routes of the cars and busses now that their private cars are sold off for lack of fuel and taxis are less plentiful.

Even of those who do jam the public transportation in the dusk of dawn and evening, struggling to work in painful masses, it is likely that most know only their own lines and go by instinct. The other markings are mysterious, signifying nothing to one who wants to go somewhere and not just wherever the car may wander. And, I seem to remember a little two-headed calf story in the papers recently of a motorman who got lost and had to ask a cop the way back to his route.

He was lucky to find a cop who knew, for most people are just strangers there, themselves.

4-H Plans for Big Enrollment on Yearly Basis

Streamlined and geared to wartime schedules, girls' 4-H club programs should have little difficulty in meeting the goal set for this year—to double last year's enrollment and organize all clubs on a year-around basis. In order to meet national needs, projects and procedures have been carefully surveyed to meet the present emergency, and only those which have a direct bearing on the situation have been retained. In all instances, both project and record work have been simplified for leaders and members.

Victory Service
Probably one of the most helpful projects from the standpoint of increasing enrollment is the new victory service project. Although it is a joint project with agriculture, all girls enrolled will be considered in the home economics groups. Victory service is designed particularly for those whose schedules already crowded with home duties and who feel that they have insufficient time for regular club projects. Only attendance at three regular meetings is required and participation in one program to be credited with farm, home and community activities.

The food project is especially timely, and is certain to appeal to every girl interested in contributing to the all-out effort for victory. The general theme is "Home Grown Health," and includes the use and preservation of fruits and vegetables, the use of whole grains and enriched products, and the use of dairy products. While emphasis will be placed on conservation, there will also be ample opportunity for initiative and originality on the part of both leaders and club members.

First Aid
The pattern for health work is similar to that of last year. Instruction in first aid will be given and physical and dental examinations stressed. An advanced course in first aid will be offered for those who enrolled last year and wish to continue the work. The OGD handbook will be used as the textbook.

Instead of the usual project in clothing, only outer garments will be considered this year. With wool already on the priority list and the prospect of rationing of wearing apparel in the immediate offing, a record-breaking enrollment is anticipated in this group.

Room improvement has been converted to an "action and doing" project. Instead of working on their own room only this year, this group may select any room in the home and as many rooms as they wish. Emphasis for this project is also to be on conservation.

Mrs. Alice Hills, Naturalist, Gives Spring Lectures

Mrs. Alice L. Hills, park naturalist at the White Pines Forest state park, began her spring lecture tour this week, after a busy winter in the woodland, where she has been doing her bit to save the pines by removing the soft, undesirable growth that snuffs out the little pines.

Yesterday, the first day of March, found Mrs. Hills presenting an illustrated lecture on "Conservation" before members of the Franklin Grove Woman's club. She told her audience how the park staff saves the pines, and also showed pictures of desirable deciduous forest trees, including oaks, hickories, sugar maples, black walnuts, butternuts, and splendid old cedars.

On Thursday, the park naturalist has two lectures. In the afternoon, she will present her fascinating new lecture, "Along the Creek," at the Mount Morris Methodist church. In this lecture, Mrs. Hills shows pictures of those things that grow at the water's edge along picturesque Pine creek, on the bluffs over-hanging the creek, and the water plants.

That evening, she will be at Ohio, Ill. to lecture to the Woman's club on "The Flora of White Pines from Snow to Snow." In this lecture, she discusses only the most spectacular flowers, but gives a clear idea of the varied flora of this interesting forest.

AUX. MATZINGER BEGINS TRAINING AT SOUTHERN CAMP

Aux. Suzanne Matzinger of rural route 4, Dixon has arrived at Fort Oglethorpe, Ga. to receive her basic training as an auxiliary at the third training center of the Women's Army Auxiliary corps.

On completion of her training, she will be assigned to duty at an army post, be sent to a WAAC specialist school, or be assigned to an officer candidate school. Over 100 jobs are now being filled by WAACs. Among them are: Bakers, camera technicians, chauffeurs, classification specialists, clerks, cooks, draftsmen, librarians, machine record operators, stenographers, telephone operators, truck drivers, typists, and weather observers. The air corps alone is using women soldiers to fill 25 highly-specialized jobs.

Auxiliary Matzinger, one of thousands of patriotic American women who have offered their services to their country, is a daughter of Emil Matzinger of Dixon.

Home Relief Cases in Illinois Only 60,600

Springfield, Ill., March 2.—(AP)—The Illinois Public Aid Commission reported to Governor Green today that the number of home relief cases in the state had dropped from 113,097 in July, 1941, to 60,600 in December, 1942, and estimated that $10,000,000 of its relief appropriation for this biennium would be unexpended on June 30.

Part of the reduction in the relief load was accomplished through re-employment committees composed of civic leaders who worked to place relief clients in private jobs. Such committees were formed in 69 of the state's 102 counties, the report said.

For the current biennium the legislature appropriated approximately $54,000,000 in state funds for relief. The report did not estimate the amount that would be required for the two-year period starting July 1.

National D. A. R. to Meet in April

The National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution will hold its 54th continental congress, unless unforeseen obstacles arise. Mrs. William H. Pouch, president general, has announced that the assembly, usually continuing for a week, will be cut to a three-day "war projects" conference.

Scheduled for April 17-21, the congress will be held in Cincinnati, Ohio, with the opening night's session in Taft hall and subsequent sessions in the Netherland Plaza hotel.

First woman's organization to establish a blood plasma program for the Red Cross, the D. A. R. through a drive for voluntary contributions of $1 from each member, has raised more than $52,000 for the purchase of eight new mobile units. The society originally set a goal of five million dollars for bond sales by February, but, having run far ahead of its drive, the figure now has been set for 10 million by April 1.

The Illinois society of the D. A. R., with an election for state regent pending, will hold its 47th conference Thursday and Friday, March 18 and 19, in the Red Lacquer room of the Palmer House in Chicago, with Mrs. Otto H. Crist of Danville presiding. Mrs. Pouch will be the special guest and speaker at the traditional "state" dinner on the second evening.

By that time, the society expects to announce the purchase of a second mobile blood plasma unit to be given to Chicago chapter of the Red Cross, whose first unit was a gift from the Illinois D. A. R.

This year, the society is electing a state regent, chaplain, recording secretary, registrar, and historian.

India

pority of three to one. They call it pakistan and under that name you, perhaps, will recognize it as one of the rocks on which the Cripps negotiations over India self government were wrecked last summer.

The pakistan (land of the pure) program rejects entirely the Hindu program for a national government and aims at the division of India into two wholly autonomous states. One of these would be Moslem and the other Hindu, and each would go its own way.

"I would welcome any move which would dissolve the political deadlock," Jinnah told me. "But what move could be made to secure satisfactory settlement?"

"A parliament with a Hindu majority is impossible, it is a menace to Islam. The conception of a united democratic India, having a federal constitution, is an impossible proposition."

"A federal government is a trap. Once you are in it you can't get out. A federal link can be developed only if the people are homogeneous. The Moslems and the Hindus are two different nations. They have nothing in common. They have different histories, different languages, different cultures and different laws. It isn't a question of religion. Their whole social life is different. Democracy is an alien philosophy of the Hindu and to his religion and to his caste system. There is no social intercourse among the many Hindu castes."

I had asked Mr. Jinnah if there was possibility of a compromise of any sort and he hadn't answered me. I finally gave it up for a bad job and rose to take my departure.

Only then did Jinnah pull me back with the remark "reverting to your question regarding a compromise", and offer to participate in a government in the interest of the war if the British government and the Hindus would agree to the principle of pakistan. I came away with the hunch that he would be prepared to compromise and agree to a federal government if he were given encouragement.

Waves of Britain's western Germany.

The communique said Britain's biggest bombers—Lancasters, Halifaxes and Sterlings—took part.

The first wave of bombers started fires which later arrivals could see for 20 minutes before reaching the target. On the way home crews could see the fires from Bremen and Hannover.

Sixth Successive Foray

British planes also carried out intruder patrols over occupied France and laid mines in enemy waters, the communique reported. It was the RAF's sixth successive night foray over the continent.

Returning pilots reported that Berlin's landmarks stood out clearly last night. One pilot who spent 15 minutes inside the city's defense ring said that while great numbers of searchlights scanned the sky the anti-aircraft fire was not up to Berlin's usual standard.

Brig. Gen. L. H. Hedrick, judge advocate general of United States forces in this war theater, interviewed returning crews at one RAF bomber station. He said: "I was impressed and I believe Hitler was even more impressed. I certainly gathered the opinion it was a great raid."

Flight Officer Joe McCarthy of St. James, Long Island, N. Y., veteran of 27 raids with the Royal Canadian Force over Germany and Italy, described the assault on Berlin as "the most successful raid I've been on."

Counted 22 Fires

"It makes you feel good when it is clear over the target as it was last night," he continued. "We could see the rooftops of the city. I counted 22 fires as we left Berlin."

Another member of McCarthy's Canadian group declared that "Berlin got a good beating. We could see fires 180 miles away."

The RAF apparently was timing its raids on Berlin to coincide with the nazis' favorite anniversary celebrations. Just as the last previous assault a month ago crashed into festivities attending the 10th anniversary of Hitler's accession to power, last night's assault gave fiery punctuation to yesterday's celebration of Luftwaffe Day, marking the 10th birthday of the modern German air force.

German broadcasts acknowledged that fires were started in the nazi capital and reported "a large number" of British planes were shot down by night fighters and anti-aircraft defenses, indicating the attack was made in force.

58th Raid on Berlin

It was the RAF's 58th raid on Berlin and the first since the daring daylight attack Jan. 30 which interrupted ceremonies marking the 10th anniversary of the nazi regime.

Last night's raid provided a smashing followup to Sunday night's devastating assault on the German submarine base at St. Nazaire, on which British and Canadian airmen unloaded more than 1,000 tons of explosives.

Wilhelmshaven, Nuernberg, Cologne and western Germany had been hit in that order on the preceding nights.

The scope of this offensive was emphasized last night by Prime Minister Churchill when he sent a congratulatory message to Air Marshal Sir Arthur Harris in which he disclosed that the RAF had dropped more bombs on Europe in February than in any previous month of the war.

KNOX DOUBTS VALUE

Washington, March 2—(AP)—Navy Secretary Knox questioned today whether aerial bombings of German submarine bases along the northern coast of France were doing direct damage to the U-boats holed up there between forays into the Atlantic.

Knox, estimating that the enemy had 300 to 400 submarines presently available, told a press conference he was unable to say how effective the bombing attacks were "in direct hits" and emphasized that "some of the stalls (in which the submarines are kept) are heavily protected."

The secretary was asked in starting the discussion whether the bombings had been effective and he replied: "Well, if you put it that way, I'll say they are effective. They certainly are doing some damage—if nothing more than disrupting the life of the community."

Situation Stable

He then added that he could not tell just how effective the attacks were nor could he say "how effective in direct hits," they had been.

Asked whether there was any evidence of an increase in the U-boat force now on active operations against allied shipping in the Atlantic, Knox replied there was no such evidence and said the Atlantic situation "has been pretty stable lately."

Hastily, however, he added, "that doesn't mean they can't increase—I think they have 300 to 400 subs available."

This estimate was considerably more conservative than estimates of many naval men who have placed the German submarine strength at probably 400 to 500—possibly even more.

Democrats Relent;

state law prohibits taking two-axle, four-wheel vehicles weighing more than 24,000 pounds on state roads.

"It looks like they've probably got it fixed so that when you drop a nickel in it, it lights up with Governor Green's picture all over it," Vicars declared. "The governor dedicated it with a big ceremony, and it hasn't accomplished anything. By the time it got to Joliet after the Touhy prison break the prisoners were all in Chicago."

Vicars also charged extravagance by the administration in employment of personnel officers at state institutions.

Rep. Thomas A. Bolger (D-McHenry) also criticized the personnel officers but said the jobs were abolished later, "only after some of the managing officers of the institutions had threatened to quit unless the personnel men were fired."

Senate Meets Later

Vicars was noncommittal as to other pending bills to appropriate an added $40,836 to the office of State Treasurer William J. Stratton and $24,000 to the office of Vernon L. Nickell, state superintendent of public instruction.

"I don't know what we'll do about those," Vicars commented. These bills likewise have passed the senate and are at the passage stage in the house.

The raid was the 80th on Munda, in the central Solomons, since November 23 when the air force based on Guadalcanal island began a campaign to destroy the enemy base.

CUT BURMA RAILWAY

New Delhi, March 2—(AP)—Heavy and medium bombers of the Tenth U. S. There was widespread allied air activity, including two raids on Palermo, Sicily, by Flying Fortresses and attacks in Tunisia which ranged from another bombing of the docks at the naval base of Bizerte and of railroad bridges between Sousse and Sfax to the strafing and bombing of the enemy in the battle area.

Church News

METHODIST CHURCH
Methodists throughout the United States are now in the midst of observing a Week of Dedication. This movement is primarily an effort to stir the entire church to a season of prayer, to lay upon its heart the world's need for the gospel and to re-establish its faith in Jesus Christ. The leaders of this movement are declaring: "To make the world safe for democracy is not enough; we must develop democracies that are safe for the world. Only that type of democracy can be safe for the world whose superstructure is buttressed by the cardinal teachings of Christianity: fatherhood of God; saviorship of Jesus Christ; brotherhood of man; infinite value of human life." During this week Methodist people everywhere are urged to observe daily Bible reading, meditation and prayer, to say grace at each meal, and on next Sunday to make a special contribution of money to be used in meeting Methodist's present day responsibilities in and around Army camps and industrial defense communities; in refugee work and in helping to feed its starving constituents in Europe, Asia and the isles of the seas.

A Special Dedication Week Service will be held at the local Methodist church on tomorrow evening and on next Sunday morning in charge of the pastor, Dr. Floyd L. Blewfield. The Wednesday night service will begin with a church family cooperative supper at 6:30 p. m. At 7:30 p. m. Dr. Blewfield will conduct the Dedication Service and at 8:15 p. m. the regular monthly meeting of the official board will be held and the senior choir will hold its weekly rehearsal.

Farmers Have to Know the Beans to Supply Seed

Urbana, Ill.—If Illinois farmers are to supply the amount of soybean seed that will be asked of them, they have to "know their beans", says J. C. Hackleman, crops specialist of the University of Illinois College of Agriculture. Recent tests on several hundred samples indicate that nearly half of the lots are running between 60 and 70 per cent germination, Hackleman reported. In order to help locate supplies of seed and encourage farmers to make tests that will enable them to know the quality of their seed just as rapidly as possible, the College of Agriculture is assisting farm advisers in the soybean counties by making tests on samples.
"Farmers are able to test their own beans," he said, "and should do so, for if they are to raise soybeans, they must know the quality of their own seed as well as where to get the right seed."
Many farmers who were encouraged by the $2 floor price to hold back good beans in the spring of 1942 were unable to market their beans as seed. Owing to the fear of inadequate storage some marketed their early matured beans as soon as possible in the fall of 1942. Beans of high moisture held until April, 1942, caused some trouble and the September freezes of that year caught many beans in an immature stage. All these factors caused farmers to be a little wary about storing beans in an immature stage.

Reduced Taxes Aim of Campaigns Under Way in Some States

Four Plans Adopted to Save Taxpayers Over Thirty Millions

(By The Associated Press)

Movements have been started in many states to relieve citizens of some war time burdens by reducing or abolishing state income taxes for the duration.

The idea has not received unanimous approval, but a survey completed by The Associated Press indicated measures which would save citizens more than 50 million dollars a year have good chances of adoption.

The survey showed four states already had put into effect plans to cut more than 30 million dollars a year have good chances of adoption.

The survey showed four states already had put into effect plans to cut more than 30 million dollars a year have good chances of adoption.

Promises More Savings

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey promised an additional 5 million saving under a new law extending exemptions and permitting deductions for life insurance and medical expenses.

Iowa has cut its tax bill in half for 1943 and 1944, giving up about 5 million in revenues each year.

The West Virginia legislature has passed over Gov. M. M. Neely's veto an act repealing the state's 10 year old personal income tax law. It produced roughly 2 1/2 million a year.

Substantial Reductions Have Been Made in Mississippi's Tax Rate, but Revenue is Up This Year.

Cite Higher U. S. Taxes

Arguments for reductions generally have cited higher federal taxation, plus the ability of states to forgo revenue owing to decreased expenditures.

Maryland's Gov. Herbert R. O'Connor has recommended that taxpayers be permitted to deduct one-third from their computed taxes for two years.

South Dakota's senate has passed a repealer and sent it to the house, where it is expected to carry. Arkansas has promised re-

Once Ruptured — Now a Paratrooper
Dec. 5, 1942

Gentlemen:—

In reference to your regular six weeks visit at the Conway Hotel, Appleton, Wis., I was fitted with a Sykes Appliance last June and wore it until about Nov. 1st, when I discarded it and attempted to enlist in the Army. I passed the army test at Milwaukee and was sent to Camp Toccoa, Ga., as a volunteer paratrooper. We were examined here again and went through what is supposedly the toughest physical test in the army and passed completely.

I surely advise your truss to anyone who has a hernia as it is inconspicuous and very comfortable. You may use my name at any time.

liev with a bill to exempt taxes on income earned outside the state.

A bill to abolish Missouri's income tax which produces around 8 million a year, is pending in the house.

The New Mexico legislature is now considering a constitutional amendment to repeal and permanently prohibit income and succession taxes. Attorney General E. P. Chase says it embraces his idea of making New Mexico "a cyclone cellar for the wealthy of other states."

Oregon Eyes Reduction

Having granted exemptions to army and navy men, the Oregon legislature is considering reductions ranging from 11 to 20 per cent. Little support for reductions has been found in California, while Kansas killed a bill to abolish its tax. More moderate measures are pending there, however, Oklahoma abandoned reduction plans after Governor Robert S. Kerr said the state should pay its old debts first. The Utah house defeated a bill to raise exemptions.

In Wisconsin the legislature has passed a bill repealing a 60 per cent surtax on income taxes, which would save an estimated 5 million this year, but its chances of getting through the acting governor's office are considered slim.

Rationing Book No. 3, Now in Storage, Is Artistic Work

Contemplated Ration Book Is Also Very Versatile

War ration book No. 3, now in storage under armed guard waiting for a go signal from the Washington, D. C., rationers, is more pictorial and will appeal more to the youngsters in the family than does No. 2, an examination of the latest ration book disclosed yesterday. What goods will be rationed with No. 3 has not been announced.

Half of the No. 3 book resembles No. 2—pages 1, 2, 7 and 8 are exactly like those in No. 2, except they are printed in brown ink instead of in red or blue. Each of these pages contains 24 coupons, arranged in four horizontal rows of six coupons each. These coupons are numbered 8, 5, 2, or 1, respectively, to denote their point value, and are lettered alphabetically to indicate their validity period. Since there are 24 vertical rows and 26 letters in the alphabet, the letters I and O are eliminated.

Coupons Illustrated

Pages 3, 4, 5, and 6 of the No. 3 book are a new development by office of price administration designers of ration book styles. Each of these pages is divided into 48 tiny coupons numbered consecutively 1 through 48. Each coupon is illustrated with a war weapon—one page of light tanks, the second of aircraft carriers, the third of fighter planes, and the fourth of cannon.

Youngsters who like to collect stamps and pictures of war weapons will be delighted with the No. 3 book, OPA officials admitted. However, they emphasized that the illustrations were not adopted for beauty's sake but for practical reasons.

The war weapon will be used to designate the kind of commodity for which the coupon can be used, and the number will indicate its period, it was explained. Thus, for example, when the OPA decides to ration butter or cheese, one airplane coupon will get a quarter pound of butter and one tank coupon a half pound of cheddar cheese.

No. 3 Gains Versatility

No. 3 is the most versatile ration book yet designed because it will have point coupons, such as those in the No. 2 book for rationing meat and canned goods, and single unit coupons like those in the No. 1 book, now used for sugar, coffee, and shoes.

Adequate supplies of the No. 3 book are in government warehouses and can be distributed upon short notice. In Chicago, 5 million copies for the metropolitan areas and many millions more for other parts of the midwest region are deposited at 549 East Illinois street.

PocketBOOKS

The five PocketBOOKS for February constitute one of the most distinguished lists PocketBOOK Publisher Robert de Graff has ever given to his millions of enthusiastic customers. They are: Mission To Moscow by former Ambassador to Russia, Joseph E. Davies; The Thin Man by Dashiell Hammett, now a member of the United States Armed Forces; Journey Into Fear by Eric Ambler; The Dutch Shoe Mystery by Ellery Queen, and THE Pocket History of the United States by those two eminent American historians, Allan Nevins and Henry Steele Commager.

Mission to Moscow, the famous Simon and Schuster best seller, is also about to become a movie—maybe we had better say a Grade A Moving picture, to be produced by Warner Bros. Davies will be played by Walter Huston, and Mrs. Davies by Ann Harding. Stalin has been portrayed by Manart Kippen, and he's wonderful—we've seen stills. But the most wonderful characterization of all—and he'll bowl them over—is Dudley Field Malone as Churchill; he has the same number and kind of chins, the same sparkling eyes and identical amount of hair left in the same places, and not only holds cigars with the same typically-English bulldog-bite, but also smokes just as many of them. Incidentally Malone and Churchill are old friends.

It has been announced that Orson Welles' next picture is to be Eric Ambler's Journey Into Fear, the famous, international-spy-intrigue hair-raiser that PocketBOOKS is publishing this month. According to Alfred Hitchcock, "Ambler has given new life and a fresh viewpoint to the art of the spy novel".

American Red Cross War Fund Campaign Now On

Spurred by the radio broadcast last Sunday with President Franklin D. Roosevelt, General Dwight D. Eisenhower and Admiral C. W. Nimitz as the principal speakers, 4,500,000 men and women are now participating in the house-to-house canvass drive to raise $125,000,000 for the American Red Cross 1943 War Fund. General Eisenhower, who is the Allied Commander-in-Chief of the Pacific fleet, spoke from somewhere in the Pacific battle area. President Roosevelt and Norman H. Davis, national chairman of the American Red Cross were the principal speakers from Washington.

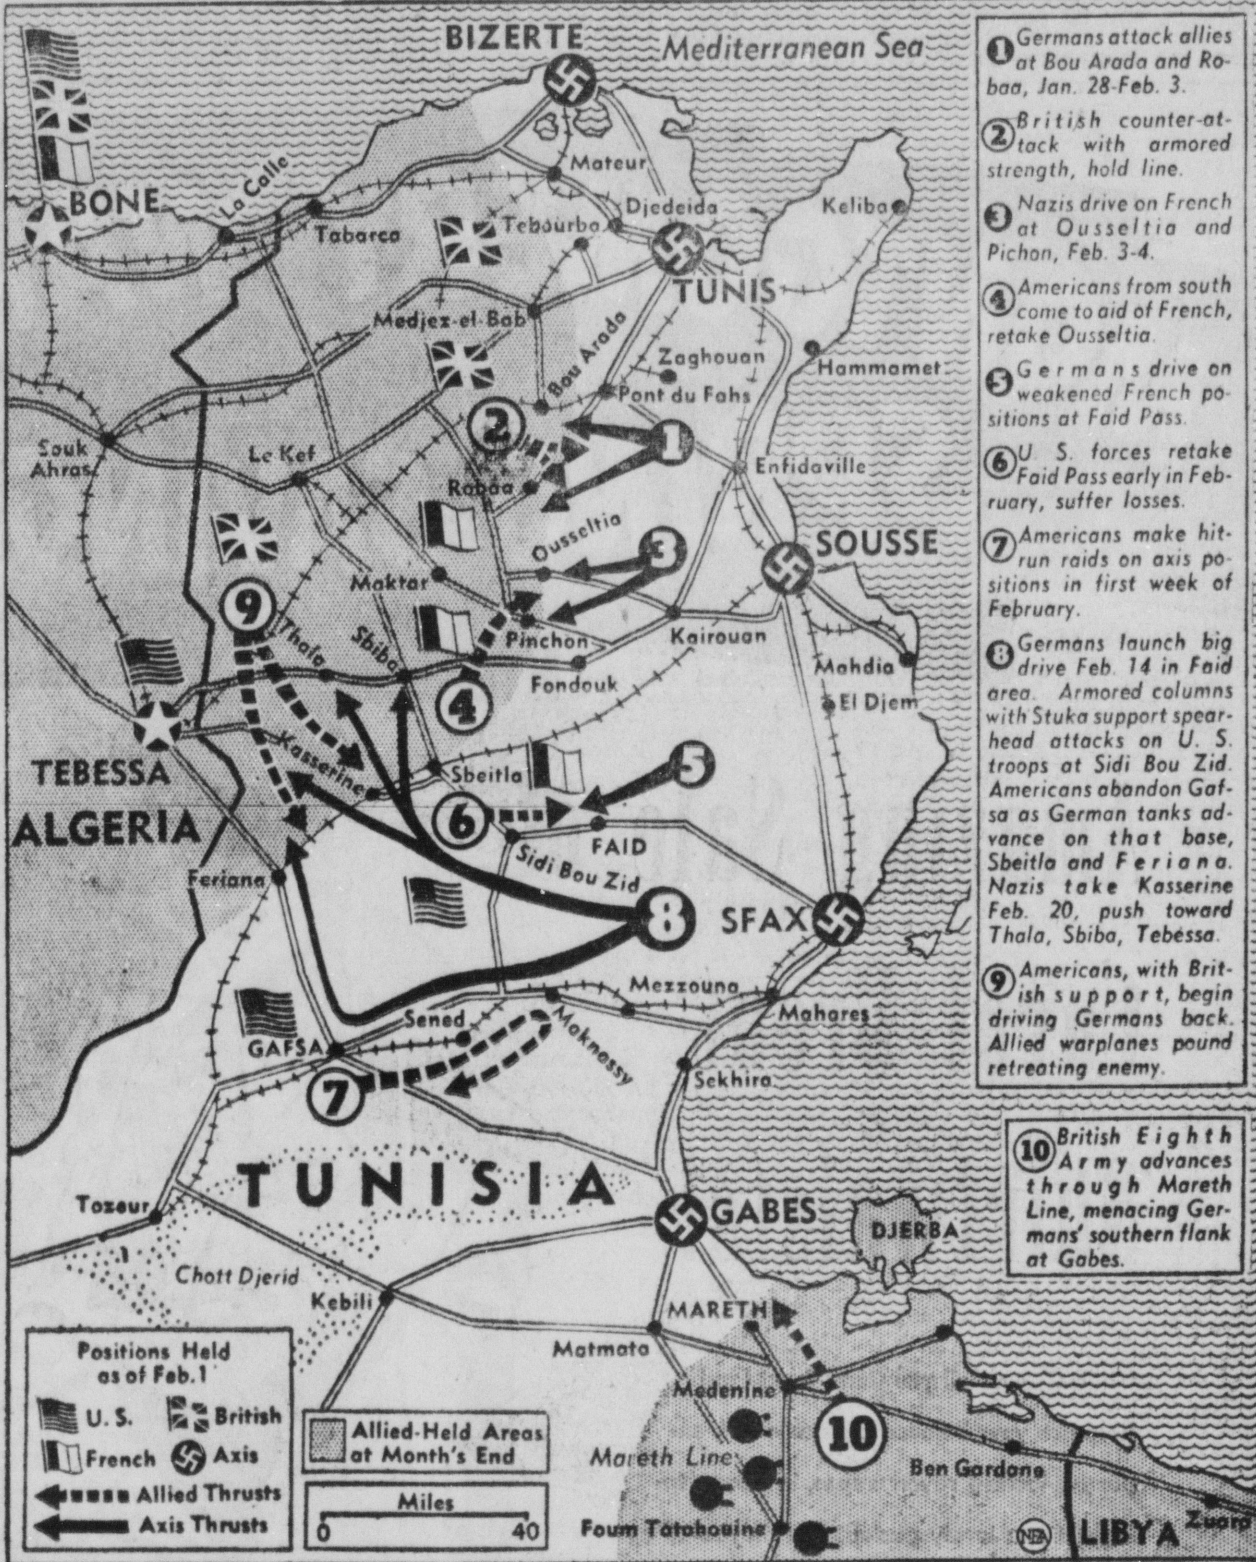

These American leaders spurred the widest mobilization for mercy in the history of the world, to use their greatest efforts in putting over the March drive. Only through the support of millions of our citizens can we be assured that all vital obligations of the Red Cross will be accomplished. The Red Cross belongs to our nation; its support comes from voluntary contributions. We can be with our men on the battle fronts only in spirit but we can be represented by the presence of Red Cross personnel who are with our fighting men everywhere and by the work carried on in service-men's behalf here at home. The little lapel tag bearing its emblem which will be given contributors to the War Fund will be a badge of honor worn by many millions of us in the coming weeks. Ogle county can and will do its part.

You won't bear the wounds and misery perhaps, let your money do it for you—give double to the Red Cross this year. The need is greater than ever.

February in Tunisia: We Win, We Lose, We Win

This is the story of a month of action in Tunisia—a month that saw American troops suffer a costly defeat at German hands, but which wound up with allied forces again chasing the axis. German diversion drives in the north drew American tanks and artillery away from the southern front, leaving our positions at Sidi Bou Zid and Gafsa lightly defended against the big axis assault there. Land and air reinforcements on the Tebessa front have turned the tide against the Germans, however, and the allies still may be able to thrust to the coast and join forces with Montgomery's Eighth Army from Libya. While the axis may feel Africa is a lost cause, they will continue to fight here to gain time for strengthening of defenses against invasion in southern Europe.

Education Would Have Prevented War, Says Green

Champaign, Ill., March 20 — (AP)—World War II could not have occurred had there been real freedom of education in Europe, Governor Green said today in an address prepared for delivery at the 75th anniversary convocation of the University of Illinois.

With students, faculty members and visiting dignitaries crowding the auditorium of the third largest university in the nation, the state executive declared that education is probably the greatest force in the world today.

"And free education, under free governments in every nation in the world, might succeed in ending war for all time," he said: "I have no doubt that freedom to teach as they please, had it existed in the schools of the axis countries for the last 25 years, would have produced no barbarous, fanatical automatons such as now form the personnel of the axis armies."

"I have no doubt that this war would not, could not have occurred had the totalitarians been unable to force the teaching of their ideology of hate in their schools".

Drive Toward Victory But, continued the governor, while Illinois hopes and educates for peace its 11,000 students and 2,400 faculty members drive also toward victory on world fronts. Approximately 500 of the faculty have left the campus to enter the armed services or to engage in vital war work, while many others, remaining, are pushing government-sponsored war research, he pointed out.

This year, the university reserve officers' training corps, with 4,700 cadets, is the largest of any non-military school in the United States. Great as have been its past contributions, the governor said, those of the future will be greater. For, "since the spirit of tolerance is absolutely necessary to the establishment of a permanent peace, and since education is, perhaps, the most valuable ingredient of the spirit of tolerance, I believe that our post-war world must look to education as the agency which can furnish the firmest foundation for a successful, permanent peace".

A major portion of all purchases made by the federal agency in Illinois consisted of protein-rich meats and soybean products.

Illinois Employers Told Key Workers May Be Summoned

Springfield, Ill., March 2—(AP)—Illinois employers faced today the warning they may soon lose key male workers, including those in war production and other essential industries, unless they submit promptly to state selective service headquarters a workers' replacement schedule.

Paul G. Armstrong, state draft director, said that employers in general "have not given us the proper cooperation and they will begin shortly to pay the penalty for their laxity."

He explained replacement schedules grade men eligible for military induction into three groups: (1) Those who can be released within six months; (2) Those recommended for a deferment of six months or one year; and (3) Those recommended for a deferment of one year or more.

Local boards, Armstrong continued, are "tightening up" on occupational deferment considerations. Employees now classified as 3-A or 3-B must not be considered permanently deferred. Local boards are now reviewing such classes to determine whether dependency reasons can be removed by application of government allotment and allowance grants, he added.

Illinois Whiz Kids Shatter Conference Records in 12 Games

Andy Phillip Busiest of Doug Mills Great Basketball Team

Champaign, Ill., March 2.—(AP)—The busiest Illinois Whiz Kid of all is Andy Phillip. And he's not through yet, although the Big Ten season is ended. The two-time champion Illini are looking forward now to the National Collegiate Athletic Association basketball tournament.

They're out to win if they get invited to play—and they think they will.

Coach Doug Mills said Saturday night after Illinois' record-breaking 86-44 win over Northwestern that his boys were just reaching their peak. Boom—last night they scored 92 points against Chicago, and closed their Big Ten season with the title again.

And Mr. Whiz—Ol' Andy Phillip—had a might parcel of those points—40, to be exact. That was a good six more than Bill Hapac made for Illinois one night in 1940 and Hapac's name is in the 1943 edition of the conference record book. Next year Phillip's name will be there.

He'll be credited, too, for the most points any Big Ten cager ever scored—in 12 games or 15. Phillip and the Illini played only a dozen this year—won them all—but in that span Andy eradicated the 242 point high that Wisconsin's Johnny Kotz made last year in 15 games. Andy has 255.

Other Records Fall

Andy last night made more field goals than anyone ever has made before in this rampaging basketball league. Andy made 16, and eight free throws. Lots of guys had made 13 in one game, but never 16.

Andy fired in 111 baskets in his 12 games. Johnny Kotz made 95 in 15 contests last year, and Johnny was the champ till Andy came along.

Phillip and the others—Ken Menke, Jack Smiley, Gene Vance and Art Mathisen—scored 755 points to beat the 15-game mark by 34. They made 325 field goals, 37 more than ever before.

Indiana's Hoosiers, who had suffered only one loss in 12 games, were in a position to grab off the title had Illinois lost last night. But Indiana got trimmed—41-38 by its old state rival, Purdue. No one was much worried about the Illini losing to Chicago, however. The Maroons haven't beaten anyone since back in the spring of 1940. Now they've lost 40 consecutive conference games.

Northwestern lost, too, last night to Michigan 53-41, despite Otto Graham's 19 points. The Wildcats are participants in the final game of the season next Saturday, at Ohio State, and must win to clinch third place behind Indiana. The Buckeyes won last night from Iowa, 53-46, and Wisconsin bowed before Minnesota, 48-34.

But these Illini—whizz. They plastered Chicago all over the lot in the first half and led 45-17 at the intermission. They ran their score up to 61 before Chicago scored again, and raced up past their own conference record of 86 points in no time at all.

There was a lot of excitement at Champaign today. Everybody was congratulating Mills for bringing home his third crown or share of a crown in his seven years as Illinois coach. This is the first time a team has won two undisputed championships in a row since Wisconsin did it in 1913 and 1914.

A lot of people showed off autographs they begged from Andy Phillip during 15 tumultuous minutes after the game ended. Gene Vance was going over to Indianapolis to take his physical exam in his bid for an appointment to West Point.

Mills didn't have much to say about going to the N. C. A. A. tourney where the Illini took a victory beating in the first round last year. He said it was up to the Kids. They were going to talk it over last night, but Andy Phillip wasn't there. He had sneaked out a side door to dodge the adoring crowd out in front. The boys intended to go, anyway.

Trainer of Cards Wants to Put Team in Long Underwear

Columbus, O., March 2.—(AP)—The trainer of the world champion St. Louis Cardinals has a new plan for wrapping up the National League pennant—long underwear for players in chilly spring and sweltering summer, too.

Dr. Harrison J. (Doc) Weaver said today he had bought 144 union suits for the Cards and "if they'll only listen to reason and wear them winter and summer, they'll win the pennant in a walk".

Doc, for two decades a devotee of longies the year 'round, says "union suits will do the players a lot more good" than those vitamin pills club owner Sam Bronfman feeds the boys to sharpen their eyesight for night games.

"By keeping out dust and dirt, long underwear keeps players comfortable and in good spirits, and that's what it takes for boys like mine to win pennants," the trainer said. "They'll win anyhow, but they'll take it in a walk in longies".

Weaver became a longie addict at 36 because he "couldn't stand the feel of the goods they put in pants on the naked knee". He has been preaching his union suit gospel to Card players for 16 years—to no avail.

This year, however, he figures spring training in the north (Cairo, Ill.) gives him the drop on the boys. Once they experience the luxury of union suits, Doc asserts, they'll be easier to convert to the "never-be-without-them" clan.

Hollywood, Calif., March 2.—(AP)—Charley Root, veteran right hand pitcher, is new manager of the Hollywood Stars of the Pacific Coast league, signing a one-year contract at an undisclosed salary.

He succeeds Oscar Vitt, former Cleveland manager, released—for economy—in favor of a playing manager. Root, with the Chicago Cubs 16 years, played with the Stars last season.

Idaho Falls, Idaho, March 2.—(AP)—Both teams realized a single point might decide their hot high school tournament fight. John Burwell, forward of the Roberts team, scored the winning goal—but Roberts lost to Iona 35 to 36.

Burwell had tossed the ball through the wrong hoop.

Chicago, March 2.—(AP)—Dwight Eddleman, most prodigious Illinois high school athlete in recent years and now a freshman at the University of Illinois, will compete unattached in the high jump event at the Chicago relays March 20, officials announced today. He has repeatedly cleared 6 feet 6 inches.

Washington

By Peter Edson
Telegraph Special Service

President Roosevelt's indication that an exploratory United Nations conference on post-war food supplies might be held sometime this spring points up consideration of how this critical problem of feeding Europe is to be handled this time.

Relief for Europe cost the United States $2.3 billion after the last war. The $300 million was private funds—Red Cross, Quakers, Near East Relief and the like. The $2 billion was government money, and the U. S. contribution represented approximately 85 per cent of all the relief handed out, the remaining 15 per cent coming from Great Britain and other countries.

Theoretically, this $2 billion worth of food relief was sold. The ex-enemy countries had to pay cash and did buy about $500 million worth of surplus American wheat for which farmers had been paid $2 a bushel by act of congress.

Liberated countries and the allied nations that needed relief got food on credit and that added about $1.4 billion to the war debts which were never collected, so in the long run that post-war relief was pretty much of a gift.

Pantry of Democracy

The total shipment of foods to Europe after World War I were 6.7 million tons, three-fourths of it cereals and sugar. Up to Jan. 1, 1943, Lend-Lease shipments of food to United Nations countries have reached 4.6 million tons or nearly two-thirds of the first post-war relief load. Less than a fourth of the Lend-Lease shipments have been grains and sugar, the bulk being meats, dairy products, fruits—in short, vitamins. There you have the principal difference, aside from quantity, between feeding Europe after the last war and feeding the world after this one.

Heavy wartime drains on U. S. food supplies, making this country the pantry as well as the arsenal of democracy, mean simply that when this war is over, the United States will not have the food surpluses she had in 1918-1919 and lead to a conclusion that feeding Europe after this war is a job for the United Nations as a whole.

Although the United States has set up an ambitious organization to distribute food in its Office of Foreign Relief and Rehabilitation under ex-Gov. Herbert H. Lehman of New York, the job of producing all this food will require the combined resources of all nations on earth, and it is to marshal these resources that the Roosevelt exploratory conference will presumably be called.

First steps toward the formation of a United Nations relief and rehabilitation distribution program have already been taken through the U. S. Department of State and the Lehman organization.

Before the United States got into the war, the British and representatives of 10 countries over-run by the Nazis formed in London an Inter-Allied Bureau on Post-War Requirements. Its chairman is Sir Frederick Leith-Ross and the organization has become known as the Leith-Ross Committee.

Political Danger

China and the United States were not included in the Leith-Ross Committee, and any set-up which counts out those two countries simply won't count. Also, the Leith-Ross Committee has no authority to do anything about production of food or relief and rehabilitation—it merely collects statistics on the need.

It is in the execution of any United Nations program for world relief and rehabilitation that political danger lies. The refugee governments seated in London represent only people who got out of Europe ahead of the Nazis. It is entirely possible that the people who had to stay home and take it will have something to say about their government when this war is over, and the refugee governments may or may not in every case be the ruling faction.

If, however, the food, the relief and the rehabilitation of the United States or the United Nations are dished out through these refugee governments, their mere action in disbursing relief from outside sources will give them power to save their own interests.

The question is whether to insist that all American relief and rehabilitation be ladled out by American field service men in post-war Europe where they may have a voice in shaping the future of those countries, or whether this problem can be handled by international relief agencies—the first step, perhaps, toward the creation of an international police force which might maintain order in this post-war world. Let the isolationists chew on that one for a while.

Diamond Jubilee of Illinois Finds It Outstanding School

Celebration at Urbana Simple Because of War Conditions

(Telegraph Special Service) Urbana, Ill., Mar. 2—That great laboratory of science and citizenship built by and for the people of Illinois—the University of Illinois—celebrates its seventy-fifth birthday today (March 2). While its celebration will be simple because of war—a convocation for students and faculty on the campus—its 150,000 sons and daughters scattered to the four corners of the world are silently thinking of their Alma Mater. A great national educational and scientific conference planned for the institution's Diamond Jubilee was cancelled shortly after Pearl Harbor; similar plans for the celebration of its Golden Anniversary twenty-five years ago were likewise interrupted by war. Speakers today will be Governor Dwight Green and President Arthur Cutts Willard will preside. The university became possible through the early work of Jonathan B. Turner of Jacksonville, through whose efforts congress passed the Morrill Land Grant Act, later signed by the Illinois president, Abraham Lincoln. It has grown in size and importance because of the generous support by the people of the state, because of the sympathetic understanding of the institution's problems by members of the General Assembly, and because of the efforts (unpaid) of the high type of men and women who have served on its board of trustees. Labeled by some as "one of the ten best educational institutions", the university today has one of the strongest faculties in the nation and a physical plant valued at $43,000,000. Aside from teaching several thousand young men and women each year, the university's research contributions, in the opinion of those who know its work, each year pay back several times over the money appropriated for its support. Among its many outstanding accomplishments reviewed today are:

Accomplishments
The Morrow Plots on the campus, the oldest corn experimental fields in the world and the oldest soil experimental plots in the nation, in continuous cultivation since 1876, have provided valuable lessons to improve farm crop yields.

The college of agriculture is world famous. Its system of permanent soil fertility is worth millions of dollars annually to the state; its 26 years of pioneering in the breeding, production and utilization of soybeans enabled the state last year to grow 73-794,000 bushels—double the production of its nearest competitor. Illinois is the "arsenal" of oil and other soybean products so vital in the nation's war effort.

In 1921 the world's first sound-on-film movies were developed here.

Today's "electric eye", used for so many purposes, resulted from developments at the university in 1913.

Modern reinforced concrete bridges, buildings, and highways are safer, and better, due largely to the university's researches.

Rails and roadbed upon which modern heavily loaded freight cars and high-speed trains carry the men and materials of a nation at war, the wheels upon which the cars roll, and the brakes upon which their safety depends, owe much of their present design and "ability to take it" to research contributions by the university.

The university's work in fatigue of metals contributed much to the safety and weight factors in all areas where metal is used—including automobiles, bridges, buildings, and ships.

The university has proved in its research residences that approximately 50% fuel savings are possible through proper insulation and firing.

The university's department of chemistry has made remarkable contributions in coal, synthetic derivatives for medicine, in x-ray work on rubber, metals and other materials, in water treatment, in amino acids, and in sundry others.

In 1881 Prof. T. J. Burrill of the Illini faculty discovered the first evidence that bacteria caused plant disease, antedating the work of Pasteur and Koch. Science's newest atom smashing machine which produces the most powerful x-rays in the world is the Betatron, "the most important development in a decade in atomic physics", was perfected at the university in 1940.

Facts Worth Knowing
Other university facts worth noting on this occasion include:

More than 10,000 former students are now in the armed services, more than 4,000 of them as officers.

Approximately 500 of its faculty have left the campus to enter the armed services, or to engage in vital war work; many others still here are engaged on government requested war research problems.

The idea of Homecoming—adopted by colleges and schools throughout the world—originated at the University in 1910.

America's first church expressly for college students was established at Illinois in 1906; the Religious Foundation movement, now world-wide, began at Illinois in 1913.

The Illinois library, largest of any state university and fifth largest in the nation, has 1,691-910 volumes, pamphlets, etc. The university lays aside 12 cents of very operating dollar to be used directly for organized research. OPERATION OF THE UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS COSTS THE TAXPAYERS OF ILLINOIS LESS THAN A PENNY A DAY PER FAMILY OF FOUR—ABOUT A NICKEL EACH WEEK.

Exclusively yours: Plans for Mickey Rooney to don a goatee and do an impersonation of Buffalo Bill for a radio sequence in M-G-M's "Girl Crazy" died aborning. Mickey showed up on the set wearing the goatee. Director Norman Taurog took one look and yelled, "Take it off! Take it off! You look just like a Gremlin!"

Mickey looked into a mirror, and agreed. There will be no Buffalo Bill impersonation in the picture.

Odd return to the screen after a six-year absence for Margo, the gal who turned in such a great dramatic performance in "Winchester." First time you see her in "The Leopard Man," the RKO film re-introducing her to moviegoers, she's standing on her head. She plays a dancer and the headstand is part of her morning calisthenics.

Spencer Tracy is living alone again in a Beverly Hills hotel, yet still denying separation rumors. . . . There's more behind Rita Hayworth's suspension at Columbia than meets the eye. She's trying to break her contract to accept a much more lucrative offer from M-G-M. Meanwhile, she's devoting most of her time to the Naval Aid Auxiliary, making personal appearances at Long Beach hospitals.

Gipsy Jive

Day Victor Young was assigned to write the musical score for "For Whom the Bell Tolls," studio executives suggested "lots of castanets and stuff from Carmen." Young said no, stuck by his guns and wrote a score of Moorish gypsy and Andalusian music which now has his bosses raving. Incidentally, there's music behind all the dialogue in the film—something new, even for Hollywood.

Lucille Ball and husband Desi Arnaz are denying those separation rumors again. . . . Arthur Hornblow, Jr. and Bubbles Schinazi, ex-wife of Wayne Morris, will become Mr. and Mrs. sometime this spring. He's Myrna Loy's ex.

Leo McCarey and Dave Butler ordered a cup of coffee in a small cafe near Paramount the other night. "Phew!" moaned McCarey. "This tastes almost like gasoline."

"Okay, wise guy," came back the waitress, "show me your 'A' card or I'll take it back."

Alan Dinehart's wife, Mozelle Britton, has written a beautiful new tune, "When I Listen to a Love Song" which will hit the music racks soon.

Margaret O'Brien, the precocious 6-year-old who scored a hit in "Journey for Margaret," is now working with Joan Fontaine and Orson Welles in "Jane Eyre," and has the adults a bit awed. Other day, seeing Welles in make-up for his role as the moody and mysterious Rochester, Margaret said: "My, but you look old." "But I'm not," Margaret, said Welles, "I'm only 27." "Oh," said Margaret, "why you're only a baby."

Hollywood Go-By

Gene Tierney's kid sister Patricia is still dodging a film career despite effort of several studios to get her name on a contract. Writing to Gene from Washington, D. C., said: "Hollywood was never half as interesting. I wouldn't leave Washington even if they offered to throw in George Montgomery."

So George Raft's wife, they say, has agreed to divorce him, and attorneys are drawing up a property settlement. We've been hearing the same story for 10 years, and we'll believe it only when we see the divorce decree.

Told to milk a goat for a scene in Universal's "Trombone Heaven," Eddie Quillan cracked: "Well, I've never milked a goat but I guess I know what it's all about. I've milked plenty of gags."

600,000 Illinois Men in Service Says Gov. Green in Radio Report

Springfield, Ill., March 2—(AP) Governor Green reported in a radio broadcast Sunday night that more than 600,000 Illinois men now are in the armed services and told of steps being taken by the state to care for those who come home from the war with physical or mental disabilities. Through the recently-appointed committee on veterans' rehabilitation and employment, the governor said all of the state's hospital, vocational training and employment services will be made available to the service men needing them. Training and placement of veterans in private employment will be one of the goals, he explained. Although there has been no formal determination whether a disabled veteran is a federal charge or the responsibility of the state government, Illinois is ready to take care of her own, Governor Green declared. His address, first of a series of monthly radio reports on state affairs, was broadcast by station WLS, Chicago.
